Whether they're in your home or your business, a pest problem can become an ongoing nuisance that only grows more frustrating over time. Over-the-counter remedies might provide temporary improvement, but if you're looking to rid yourself of the issue once and for all, a professional is always going to be the best option. Legacy Pest Control has over 15 years of experience ridding businesses and homes of bed bugs, cockroaches, rodents, spiders, earwigs and more.

Our skills and years of experience have given us an edge over your pests, and the satisfaction of our customers is always our top priority. We can make your problem disappear for good, and we'd be happy to fulfill any special requests you might have.

Residential Pest Control in Layton, Utah

Pests can come in a number of different forms, but regardless of why you need us, we can provide you with the solution you're looking for. Although one or two treatments may be enough for certain types of infestations, we also offer a quarterly maintenance package. A Legacy Pest Control expert could visit your home four times a year in order to maintain the pest-free conditions resulting from initial treatments. Pests like rodents might require additional treatments at the beginning, although this depends on the extent of the infestation.

We utilize environmentally-safe pesticides in our residence treatments, which are also safe for both pets and children. The safety of our customers is always a priority, and we will attempt to solve your pest problem with the fewest possible number of treatments.

Commercial Pest Control in Layton, Utah

Pests in the workplace can be bad for business, as well as morale. Customers who see insects or other nuisances might not feel as comfortable, and employees who need to keep a look out for mice might well be searching for a new job if the problem persists for too long. Avoid this kind of outcome by getting out in front of the issue quickly — take the first step, and give us a call.

Legacy Pest Control can work quickly to get things back to normal, meaning your productivity won't need to suffer any longer due to an infestation.
