Extermination Services Provided by Our Pest Control Company Utah

We have you covered when it comes to pest control. Here are just some of the pests we can help eliminate from your Logan, Utah home or business:

Ants

Ants may be tiny, but that doesn't mean they can't cause a lot of damage. Depending on the species, ants can cause significant and costly damage to the wood frame of your property. The most common places to find ant infestations are around baseboards, doors, and windows where they can gain the easiest access to food.

Bed bugs

No longer just a problem in hotels, bed bugs can cause serious problems in your home. They produce incessant itching by feasting on the blood of their victims.

Cockroach

Once inside your home or business, Cockroaches can multiply at an alarmingly fast rate. They can also be challenging to remove, even with an at-home kit you can purchase from a drugstore. It's best to leave this extermination to the professionals from the start.

Earwig

Although earwigs don't cause physical symptoms like most other pests, it's still annoying to have them in your home or business. We not only eliminate them from the inside, we find and treat their entrance point outside.

Silverfish

You might have a problem with silverfish if you live or work in a wet or humid area. Early extermination is essential to prevent them from multiplying quickly.

Spiders

Most spiders don't cause serious harm to humans except for a few species that bite. That doesn't mean you want to look at these unsightly pests where you live or work.

Termites

A highly destructive pest, a team of termites can quickly destroy your home's wooden structure or that of your commercial property. This can lead to costly repairs and can even prevent you from selling your home if you have it on the market.
