Struggling with an insect or rodent infestation can be frustrating, stressful, and exhausting. If you need help from an exterminator in Utah, we can help. We can eliminate the infestation for you and implement professional strategies to help prevent future re-infestations. Just some of the types of household pests we frequently eliminate in Utah homes include:

Cockroaches	Few household pests are more dreaded than cockroaches . They're known carriers of infectious viruses and diseases and dangerous bacteria. These insects can be challenging to eradicate without professional help.
Termites	Termites cause millions of dollars in damage to homes throughout the United States every year. The extensive termite damage these insects cause requires expensive repairs or even complete rebuilding of structures. Legacy termite experts eradicate termites and apply effective measures to prevent re-infestation.
Ants	Ants bring a very unsanitary element into areas of the home where food is prepared. Without prompt attention, an ant infestation causes unhealthy living conditions. Legacy's ant treatment penetrates the species hiding places.
Earwigs	Earwigs are unsanitary and annoying domestic pests. Your Legacy household pest control professional will eliminate the earwig infestation around the exterior of your home to disrupt their strong attraction to it.
Silverfish	If your home has accessible damp, humid areas, such as around water lines, puddles, crevices along walkways or window sills, bathroom cabinets, etc., a silverfish infestation may emerge. We provide a lasting solution.
Spiders	A natural source of fear at home is spiders. After all, even many nonpoisonous species can leave painful bites, and who has time to learn all the spider species? Although most spiders are not dangerous, multiple spider species in Utah are threats to humans. We identify and eradicate spider infestations.
Bed Bugs	Just hearing about a bed bug infestation far away makes people shudder. That's natural because these insects feed on human flesh. Plus, bed bugs are notoriously difficult to get out of a home without a professional exterminator.
